III. DESCRIPTION

The Old Testament serves as the beginning of the revelation of God's heart for humanity. For some, the Old Testament can be a daunting challenge. Yet, the revelation of God in the Old Testament makes our New Testament faith fuller and richer. The Old Testament offers an exciting discovery of the character and ways of God. From the beginning of the world in the opening chapters of Genesis thru to the last prophecies of Malachi, God was clearly at work in humankind, preparing the world for the revelation of His Son, Jesus Christ. We have the privilege of hearing God's revelations of himself through all of this history and the challenge of applying it to our world today.

VI. REQUIREMENTS

- A. Quizzes and Reading Assignments – Sections from the OT will be read in conjunction with the course lectures (see course schedule). Weekly quizzes will be given on this material. See the course syllabus for the dates of these quizzes and material to be covered each week. If a quiz is missed with a legitimate excuse, the student should see the instructor about making it up. However, only three quizzes may be made up during the course of the class.
- B. Thesis Paper - Students will write a 3,500-word paper on the relationship of the OT to the NT using Andy Stanley's book, Irresistible. A summary of the current scholarly arguments followed by a concise thesis statement should compose the 1 paragraph introduction. The body of the paper should contain arguments that are careful to address both opposing views and the author's thesis. The paper should end with a 1 paragraph summation of your conclusions. Internet sources—though helpful in orienting students to the current debate—should be used cautiously and sparingly. All papers should be written in APA style, double spaced, in 12 point, Times New Roman font. For writing and citing help see the APA cheat at: www.citychurchonline.org/christian-life-college. All uploaded written paper assignments must be submitted in Word format for ease of grading. Please do not submit papers in PDF or Google Docs. Papers are due before midnight on the due date.
- C. Mid-term and Final Exams – Students will write two examinations based on the lecture material and textbook reading.
- D. Attendance is mandatory - Failure to attend classes will result in a reduction of one letter grade after 3 excused absences. An absence is considered excused when accompanied with a short email, sent prior to the absence, to the lead instructor explaining the absence.
